

THE NEWS.—The Tribune has the full account of the evidence in the assassination conspiracy before the Military Commission at Washington. Much of this evidence was produced by the defense, and the defense's chief witness, Mr. Arnold O'Loughlin, both in Washington and Baltimore, and much more of it is read with deep interest. In the meantime, another of the prisoners, Jefferson Davis, is on his trial, and from the trial of the Southern leaders, the trial of the rebels, and the trial of the conspirators, the public is interested with deep interest. In the meantime, another of the prisoners, Jefferson Davis, is on his trial, and from the trial of the Southern leaders, the trial of the rebels, and the trial of the conspirators, the public is interested with deep interest.

It is a matter of interest to Washington that the next week a President will be as the next President. The Army Proclamation, defining the status of the rebels, and what classes are to receive the benefit of amnesty.

Mr. Harlan, the Attorney General, has decided to go to the Interior, Secretary Under having retired yesterday.

The amount of seven-thousand dollars, which the Tribune has in its safe, was taken yesterday in the first day of June of the third series of this loan.

The Mexican loan is to be offered shortly to American capitalists, it is stated, with good results.

Gold closed in New York yesterday at $31.15.

THE END OF DATA.—Jefferson Davis in female attire, running through the streets of Washington, is one of the most ludicrous pictures ever drawn in nature. If the wit of man had been adduced to devise a fitting costume for the chief of the rebellion, the result would have been tame and tame. As it is, the result would have been tame and tame.
